Title LXVIII.

If an appointment has been made through enmity.
(Si propter inimicitias creatio facta sit.)

10.68.1. Emperor Alexander to Anicetus.

If you have been appointed to perform municipal liturgies through enmity, the sense of justice of the president will prevent this nomination from working to your injury, since it is to the public interest that appointments should not be made through enmity, but by honest judgment and for the public good.¹
