

Book XI.
Title XXXIX. (XXXVIII)

Concerning those who are sued on account of an office which they have administered.
(De his qui ex officio quod administraverunt conveniuntur.)

11.39.1. Emperor Alexander to Octovius.

It is sufficient to make good the loss of the capital of public funds, which has not been lost through your fault, without making good the interest.