

Quick message from your law librarians

We're happy to celebrate National Library Week with students, faculty, & staff. We anticipate a livelier library this week, especially during the golf tournament. We will return to normal decibels the following week.

FINALS SEASON

Study room usage increases, as do noise complaints. Study room reservations are limited to 2 hours per group & may be renewed after 2 hours if no one else has signed up. We ask that phone calls & conversations be taken into stairwells or elsewhere if you are in a quiet zone. Thanks for being considerate.

Semester End & Summer FAQs

Q: Will the law library be open this summer?

A: Yes. We will be open to the public Monday through Friday, 8AM - 5PM. We are closed to the public on weekends and after hours. Students & faculty can access the library 24-7 with their ID.

Q: I like my carrel. Can I stay in my carrel through the summer?

A: Yes. Be sure to remove any food items after finals.

Q: How do I return items to the library over the summer?

A: When the library is closed, return items to the library book drop near the south entrance; otherwise return to the Help Desk.

Q: What if I need study space for bar prep or summer classes?

A: Reserve a study space in the library <https://tinyurl.com/337s859r>

Q: What about computer labs and printing in the law library?

A: Computers and printers are located near the Help Desk and on the second floor in the periodical room.

Q: Construction is mostly over. Will there be disruptions this summer?

A: We hope disruptions will be minimal. We have a book tagging project scheduled for this summer for our upcoming self-checkout, and we will post updates about when those installations will be happening in different parts of the library.

Q: What if I have legal research questions this summer?

A: Email your law librarians at lawref@uwyo.edu. We're here for you!
