OBJECTIVES

The Museum Studies minor introduces undergraduates to the history, theory, and practice of museums and collections. Courses encourage interdisciplinary thinking about the theoretical, historical, and contemporary roles of museums and curatorial institutions in society. Through the minor, students learn about the preservation, collection, interpretation, and exhibition of art, anthropological, historical, and scientific materials for the public audience.

Students majoring in American Studies, Art History, Anthropology, History, or any other major in the Humanities, Sciences, Education, or Business can enhance their area of specialization with the Museum Studies minor.

WHY MUSEUM STUDIES?

The Museum Studies program offers students a chance to gain marketable skills and an unforgettable experience by the variety of programs it has to offer. The University of Wyoming also has ten museums and repositories on campus that support academic programs, scientific research, and public education.

CURRICULUM

Course credits for the Museum Studies Minor are divided into four areas: the Museum Studies Core, the Methods Core, Elective Courses, and the Cultural Experience.

The preliminary core of courses in museology and marketing engage students in the ethical and practical challenges facing curatorial institutions. An internship at a museum, archive, or historic preservation institution provides students valuable hands-on experience. The internship combines the practical experience in the operations of the museum and exhibition strategies with firsthand experience handling art, artifacts, archives, and specimens.

The choice of methods courses provides students with a solid foundation in the methods and approaches to art, anthropological, historical, and scientific objects. Elective courses build a breadth of knowledge into the minor. The choice of elective courses allows students to design the minor to complement their major or to enhance their expertise in an area outside their major. The cultural experience requirement--through study abroad courses or through courses in a foreign or indigenous language--encourages students to broaden their points of view and to expand their interpretive skills for future research and practice.

REQUIRED COURSES

The minor requires 21 credit hours including the internship. In addition, the choice of a Study Abroad experience or courses in a foreign language is in place to provide cultural breadth. All courses for the minor must be completed with a grade of C (2.0) or better.
