

PHIL 3250-01: Global Justice

Instructor: Ed Sherline

Time: MWF 1:10-2:00

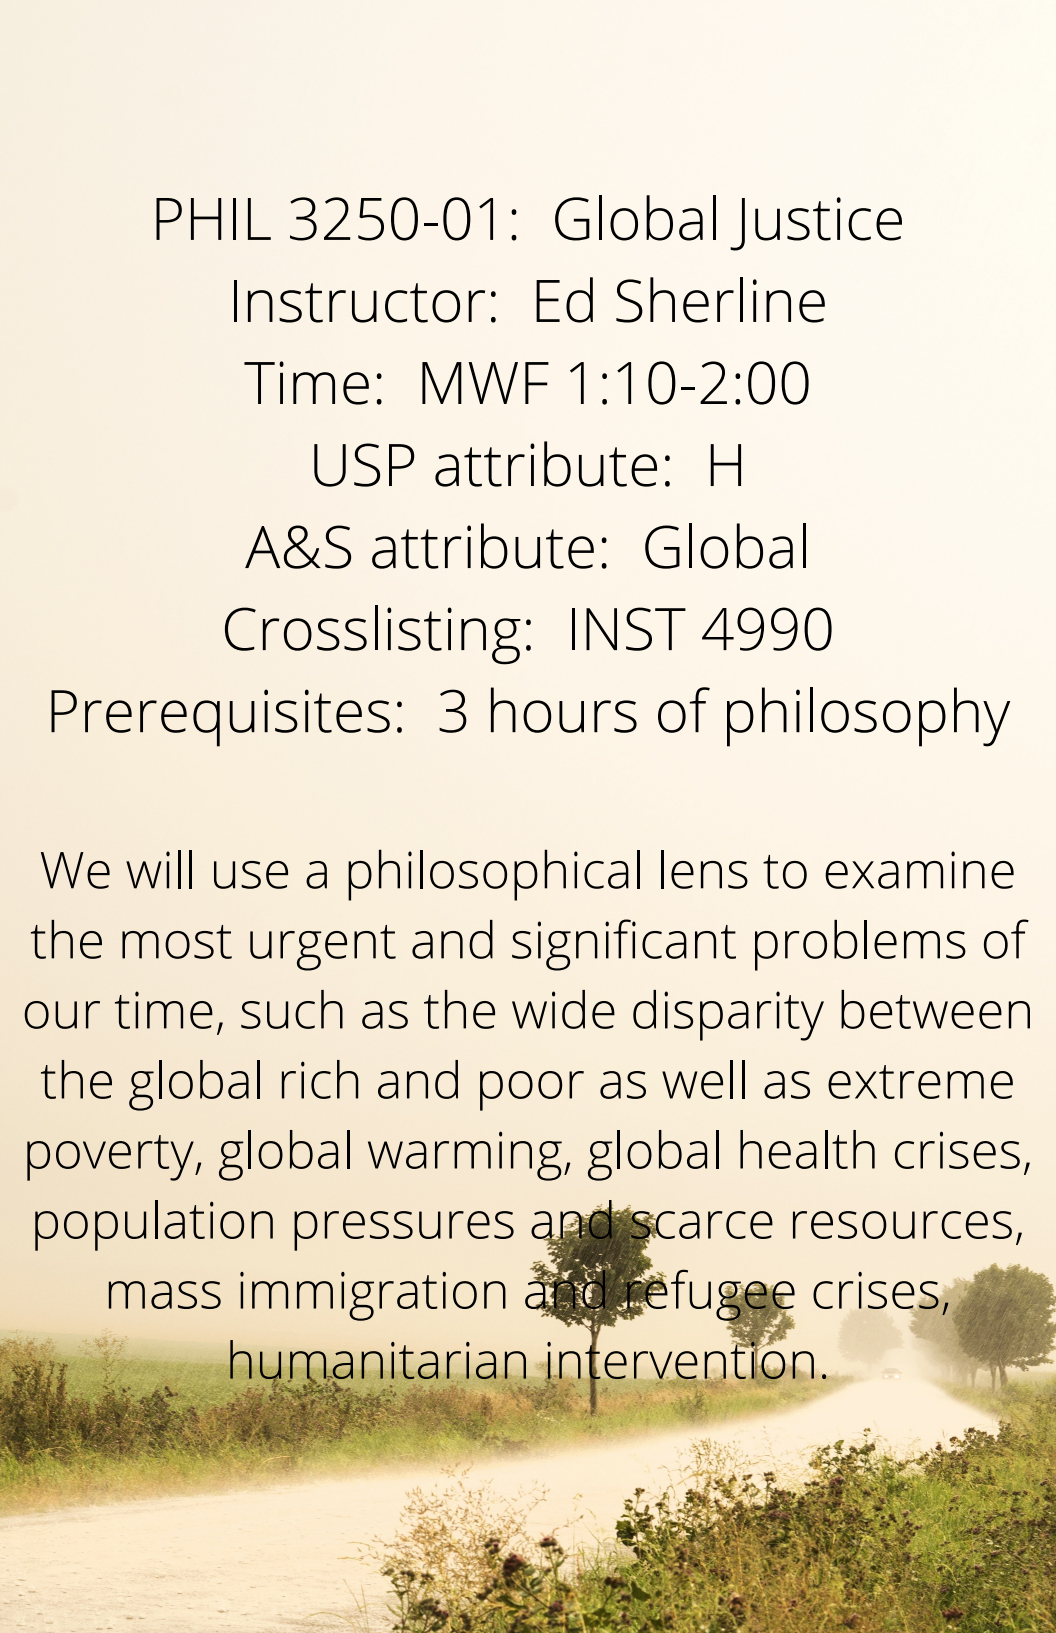

USP attribute: H

A&S attribute: Global

Crosslisting: INST 4990

Prerequisites: 3 hours of philosophy

We will use a philosophical lens to examine the most urgent and significant problems of our time, such as the wide disparity between the global rich and poor as well as extreme poverty, global warming, global health crises, population pressures and scarce resources, mass immigration and refugee crises, humanitarian intervention.

A photograph of a dirt road winding through a field. The road is light-colored and dusty, with a small car visible in the distance. The field is green with some brown patches, and there are several trees in the background. The sky is hazy or foggy.