

The background of the slide is a detailed black and white reproduction of Plato's 'The Academy' by Raphael. It depicts a large group of ancient Greek philosophers in a grand, vaulted hall. Plato is shown at the center, pointing upwards, while Aristotle stands beside him, gesturing towards the earth. Other figures are engaged in various activities: some are seated and writing, others are standing and in discussion, and a few are reclining. The architecture features high arches and statues in niches.
