Sabbatical Support Funding Opportunities

Sabbatical Support Funding

Sabbatical assignments are designed to provide faculty with time to focus on their professional development as researchers and teachers. Institutional support often involves provision of salary to cover one semester. Sabbatical support from outside sponsors is then sought by faculty to fill the salary gap, pursue their interests and/or learn new research skills in different settings.

What's in this e-Book?

This publication provides information on funding opportunities available to University of Wyoming faculty who are contemplating sabbatical leave. We have included both traditional sabbatical support fellowships that pay the additional half salary, other types of fellowships that provide some level of financial support and helpful opportunities that provide for the intensity of concentration required for successful sabbatical outcomes.

Need More Help?

We invite you to take advantage of ORED's personalized strategy planning and fund searching services to identify sponsors and funding programs specific to your research interests.

The ORED e-Book Series includes Sabbatical Support, Pilot Project Funding and Funding Opportunities for New Investigators.

American Academy in Berlin | The Berlin Prize

Description/Eligibility Criteria: Emerging and established scholars, writers and professionals are welcome to apply for the Berlin Prize which will allow them to engage in independent study at the Academy. Alumni include historians, poets, economics, journalists, anthropologists, musicologists, public policy experts and writers. Fellows are encouraged to devote time to their own projects within an interdisciplinary residential community, and Academy staff members are available to assist with networking as well as introductions to the cultural, social and intellectual atmosphere of Berlin. While it is necessary to justify why a period of study in Berlin would be beneficial to the fellow, there is no requirement that fellows be experts on German topics. Eligible candidates are based permanently in the US although US citizenship is not a requirement and have terminal degrees.

Deadline: September

Maximum Award: Sponsor support includes $5,000/month stipend, housing and travel/relocation expenses

Award Duration: Usually limited to 1 academic semester

Award Notification: February

American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) | Frederick Burkhardt Residential Fellowships for Recently Tenured Scholars

Description/Eligibility Criteria: This fellowship opportunity, supported by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, funds ambitious humanities and related social sciences long-term projects that would benefit from an academic year of dedicated scholarly work. Successful candidates spend 9 months at one of 13 possible residential centers, all of which encourage exchanges across disciplinary lines to enhance the significance of supported projects. Eligible applicants are recently tenured humanities scholars, defined by the sponsor as those who have begun their first tenured contracts no earlier than 4 years prior to application deadline. US citizenship or permanent residency is not required for this fellowship. Fellows' institutions must commit to providing summer salary for recipients (2/9's salary) post-fellowship to allow continuation of work on their projects.

Deadline: September

Award Duration: 9 months

Maximum Award: $75,000 stipend from ACLS

Award Notification: Mid-February

Sponsor URL: <http://www.acls.org/programs/burkhardt/>

American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) | Fellowships

Description/Eligibility Criteria: Fellowships support research in all humanities and related social science disciplines. Intended as salary replacement to help scholars devote six to twelve months to full-time research and writing, it may be supplemented by additional fellowships and institutional sabbatical pay up to the current academic year salary of the applicant. Eligibility criteria include US citizenship or permanent residency as of the application deadline; a terminal degree received at least two years prior to the application deadline and a two-year lapse between previous paid research leaves.

Deadline: September

Award Duration: 6-12 months

Maximum Award: $35,000 for Assistant Professors; $45,000 for Associate Professors; $65,000 for Professors

Award Notification: Late February

National Evolutionary Synthesis Center (NESCent) | Targeted Sabbaticals: Distinguished Sabbatical Scholars

Description/Eligibility Criteria: The Center is dedicated to cross-disciplinary research in evolution. This program allows senior researchers to archive their own extensive data collections to be preserved in a digital archive. Center staff will work with Scholars to preserve their data digitally. Data will then be made available to the evolutionary biology community with timing at the discretion of the Scholar (accessible immediately or after the Scholar retires).

Deadline: July

Award Duration: 6-12 months

Maximum Award: Monthly stipends based on faculty member's 9-month salary from home institution plus $1000/month housing allowance; this mechanism provides full support for the academic year

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

Sponsor URL: <http://www.nescent.org/science/fullsabbatical.php>

National Evolutionary Synthesis Center (NESCent) | Traditional Sabbaticals

Description/Eligibility Criteria: Supporting ambitious synthetic research on any aspect of evolutionary biology and relevant disciplines, NESCent seeks researchers who will generate products in three categories: synthetic papers and reviews, databases that will allow others to build on the research foundation and software/mathematical tools designed to solve major analytical problems. NESCent encourages inclusion of graduate students who have completed at least one year of graduate work in proposed projects; graduate student support is provided for one semester. Collaborative efforts involving multiple scholars are also encouraged.

Deadline: July and December

Award Duration: 3 – 12 months

Maximum Award: Supplements institutional sabbatical pay (pays one-half of salary) plus $1000/month housing allowance

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

National Institutes of Health (NIH) | Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Awards (NRSA) for Individual Senior Fellows (F33)

Description/Eligibility Criteria: This NIH funding mechanism provides opportunities for experienced scientists who wish to make major changes in the direction of their research or who wish to acquire new research capabilities relevant to their current interests to take time away from their normal professional responsibilities to undertake a period of research training. Senior fellow awards are usually used to supplement sabbatical support. Eligible applicants are independent scientists with 7 or more years of experience beyond the doctorate who are seeking retraining or additional career development. Note that not all NIH institutes participate in this program; NIH strongly recommends that researchers interested in submitting a F33 application consult with program officers at the relevant institute. Currently, the following NIH components are offering F33s: National Cancer Institute; National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute; National Human Genome Research Institute; National Institute on Aging; National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism; National Institute on Dental and Craniofacial Research; National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences; National Institute of General Medical Sciences, National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke; and National Institute of Nursing Research.

Deadline: April, August, December

Award Duration: Up to 2 years

Maximum Award: Dependent on institutional salary and support levels

Award Notification: Dependent on institute/advisory board schedules

Sponsor URL: <http://grants1.nih.gov/grants/guide/pa-files/PA-11-114.html>

National Institutes of Health (NIH) | Clinical Research Management Sabbaticals

Description/Eligibility Criteria: This program allows clinical researchers, physicians, allied health professionals and others the opportunity to spend time at the NIH Clinical Center. The overall goal of the program is to demystify complexities of governmental regulatory agencies and achieve excellence in clinical research management. Six core modules of study are offered through the program: critical infrastructure, support services, legal and regulatory infrastructure, communications and outreach, strategic management and funding opportunities. Participants select the modules best suited to their needs as part of their learning plan. Eligible applicants have at least 7 years of experience beyond receipt of their doctorates, demonstrated research experience and peer-reviewed publication records.

Deadline: Applications are accepted year-round; US citizens should plan to submit at least 8 weeks prior to their preferred start date while non-US citizens should submit all necessary materials at least 12 weeks in advance of start date to insure receipt of necessary credentials

Award Duration: Determined on an individual basis (minimum of several weeks)

Maximum Award: Participants should be self-supporting or supported by their home institutions as NIH provides no stipend for travel or housing (participants can apply for the NIH Senior National Research Service Award Program to support this sabbatical opportunity – see previous entry)

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

Sponsor URL: <http://clinicalcenter.nih.gov/training/sabbatical/index.html>

National Multiple Sclerosis Society | Daniel Haughton Senior Faculty Awards

Description/Eligibility Criteria: Established multiple sclerosis (MS) investigators who wish to obtain specialized training to enhance their abilities to conduct research relevant to MS will want to consider this program for sabbatical support. US citizenship is not required for investigators who pursue training at US institutions. Investigators who wish to obtain their training in other countries must be US citizens.

Deadline: August for invited full applications (required pre-applications must be submitted in advance of this full application deadline for review by the Research Programs Department staff at NMSS who are charged with determining applicability of proposed research to NMSS needs)

Award Duration: 6-12 months

Maximum Award: Sponsor provides stipends to supplement sabbatical support, relocation costs and research costs

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL)/DOE | Sabbatical Program

Description/Eligibility Criteria: NREL, a US Department of Energy Laboratory, provides in-residence sabbatical support for senior scientists and engineers with established research records and accomplishments who are on leave from their home institutions. Research programs at the NREL facility in Golden, Colorado are: National Center for Photovoltaics; National Bioenergy Center; National Wind Technology Center; Electricity, Resources and Buildings Systems Integration; Chemical and Materials Science Center; Hydrogen Technologies and Systems Center; Materials and Computational Sciences Center; Strategic Energy Analysis; and Transportation Technologies and Systems Center.

Deadline: Applications accepted anytime

Award Duration: Up to 1 year

Maximum Award: NREL may provide travel expenses and a housing allowance for participants, but the home institution is expected to pay all or partial costs for participation of their faculty members

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

Sponsor URL: <http://www.nrel.gov/rpp/sabbaticals.html>

National Science Foundation (NSF) | Methodology, Measurement and Statistics – Mid-Career Research Fellowships

Description/Eligibility Criteria: Goals for this program are to fund researchers seeking new methods and new insights into complex social and behavioral science issues and to gain better understanding through interdisciplinary approaches. Collaborative efforts are the key to meeting these goals. Investigators spend their time at a host location which can be a different department within their own institution or at other locations. Investigators will be expected to justify their choice of host location. Preference will be given to senior (post-tenure) researchers although faculty members at any level beyond the terminal degree are technically eligible to apply. Applicants are encouraged to consider coordinating this fellowship with their sabbatical leave.

Deadlines: January and August

Award Duration: 1 year

Maximum Award: $60,000 (includes stipend, relocation allowance and special allowance to cover research supplies, publication expenses and other research-related costs)

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

National Security Agency (NSA) | Sabbatical Program in Mathematics

Description/Eligibility Criteria: NSA sabbaticals offer applicants the opportunity to obtain additional mathematical skills in cryptology, signals analysis, algebra, probability, statistics, number theory, discrete mathematics, analysis of data sets and other topic areas. Sabbatical tours allow faculty to work in one or two different NSA offices and problem solve alongside agency personnel. US citizenship for both applicants and immediate family members is required.

Deadline: Applications are accepted anytime, but applicants should plan to submit their applications at least a year in advance of their desired start date as thorough background checks must be conducted.

Award Duration: 1 year

Maximum Award: NSA pays one-half the cost of the Sabbatical employee's salary/fringe benefits during the academic year and 100% during summer months; moving expenses and a housing supplement are also provided

Award Notification: Not indicated by sponsor

Sponsor URL: http://www.nsa.gov/research/math_research/sabbaticals/index.shtml

Office of Naval Research (ONR) | Sabbatical Leave Program

Description/Eligibility Criteria: In-residence Sabbaticals at sponsoring US Naval Laboratories allow active research participation with Navy scientists and engineers. Applicants contact research personnel at the specific facility they wish to work with and the proposed project is then jointly developed. Eligible candidates are active faculty at US institutions of higher education who are US citizens or permanent residents and are eligible for sabbatical leave.

Deadline: Applications should be submitted at least 6 months prior to proposed start of sabbatical

Award Duration: Minimum of 1 semester and maximum of 1 year

Maximum Award: ONR pays a monthly stipend making up the difference between the faculty member's normal salary and institutional sabbatical support provided; relocation and travel expenses may also be provided

Award Notification: 3-4 months after receipt of proposal

Stanford Humanities Center | External Faculty Fellowships

Description/Eligibility Criteria: In-residence External Faculty Fellows pursue their own research projects and participate in the intellectual life of the Center during their fellowship year. Research projects must be in the humanities (defined by the Center as “history, philosophy, languages, literature, linguistics, archeology, jurisprudence, history and criticism of the arts, ethics, comparative religion, and those aspects of the social sciences employing historical or philosophical approaches”). Eligible applicants hold PhDs and are at least 3 years beyond receipt of the degree at the start of their fellowship.

Deadline: October

Award Duration: 9 months

Maximum Award: $60,000 stipend plus a moving allowance of up to $20,000

Award Notification: Late March

Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars | Fellowships

Description/Eligibility Criteria: Themes are set for each year’s competition and always involve key challenges for the United States and the world. Fellows are given the opportunity to affiliate with particular programs or projects at the Center and are encouraged to interact with both policy makers in the Washington, DC area and Center staff working in similar areas. Fellows will also participate in various Center activities throughout the year in this residential program. Candidates associated with academic institutions must have terminal degrees; successful applicants have generally published at least one book prior to application for this program. There are no citizenship requirements.

Deadline: October

Award Duration: 9 months

Maximum Award: $85,000 (to include the difference between applicants’ institutional sabbatical support and their normal academic year salary plus round trip travel support for the applicant and dependents)

Award Notification: March

Winterthur Museum, Garden and Library | National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships

Description/Eligibility Criteria: The sponsor supports fellowship opportunities allowing use of Winterthur’s collections and especially seeks applications offering fresh approaches to their available resources. Main research emphases are social and cultural history. Specific areas include material culture, architecture, decorative arts, design, consumer culture, garden and landscape studies, Shaker studies, travel and tourism, the Atlantic World and objects in literature. Suitability of the project is determined based on how closely aligned the subject is to the sponsor’s collections. As the name implies, funding for this fellowship program comes from NEH. Eligible applicants are US citizens or those who have been in residence in the US for 3 years prior to application.

Deadline: January

Award Duration: 4-12 months

Maximum Award: $37,800

Award Notification: Mid-April

Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution | Marine Policy Fellowship Program

Description/Eligibility Criteria: This fellowship opportunity emphasizes economic, legal and policy issues involving use of the world's oceans and their resources. Research emphasis areas include fisheries and aquaculture; the economics of coastal communities; marine spatial planning and ecosystem-based management; sea level rise and shoreline change; and water resources management focusing on coastal aquifers and the effects of climate change. Sponsor-preferred disciplines are economics, law, statistics, public policy, natural resources management and international relations, but they indicate that strong applications in other disciplines are also welcome. Eligible applicants have terminal degrees or equivalent professional qualifications; those with sabbatical support leave are encouraged to apply.

Deadline: January

Award Duration: 1 year

Maximum Award: $57,000 plus travel funds

Award Notification: March

Union for International Cancer Control (UICC) | Yamagiwa-Yoshida Memorial International Cancer Study Grants

Description/Eligibility Criteria: UICC Study Grants allow cancer researchers to carry out bilateral research projects with collaborating investigators abroad, exchange skills and materials and/or receive advanced training on experimental research methods and techniques. Basic, translational or applied cancer research projects are supported and the sponsor indicates interest in prevention-oriented projects. Eligible candidates for these Study Grants have appropriate scientific and/or medical qualifications and a minimum of 2 years of postdoctoral experience; are actively engaged in cancer research and have recent publications in international peer-reviewed literature.

Deadline: January and July

Award Duration: 3 months

Maximum Award: $10,000

Award Notification: April (for the January deadline) and October (for the July deadline)
