Section Six

2015-2016 Analysis:
College of Education
Strengths, Weaknesses,
Opportunities, Threats
(SWOT)

Strengths

Recruitment and Application Process

- Affordability of graduate programs

Admissions

- Admissions selectivity into graduate programs using standardized test scores, prior GPA, dispositions, diversity criteria
- Reputation of prior undergraduate program of graduate applicants

Program Design and Delivery

- Instructional practices derived from a national empirical evidence base, e.g. case studies in the Educational Administration Doctoral Program
- Instructional practices aligned to Specialized Professional Association (SPA) and Council for Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) standards
- Curricular currency, relevance, and structure
- Combination of faculty-designed course rubrics and edTPA assessment of candidate skills
- Assessments to demonstrate candidate efficacy in P-12 settings
- Comprehensive exit assessment of candidate knowledge

Candidate Experience

- Some use of practices based on empirical evidence base, e.g. backward design; Words Their Way; balanced literacy; digital literacy for vocabulary, comprehension and writing; dialogic instruction and guided release of responsibility models
- Preparation to teach Wyoming Next Generation Science Standards
- Hybrid delivery of face-to-face and online delivery in graduate programs
- Field and clinical placement experiences
- Research opportunities for graduate students that lead to national and international conference engagement
- Mentoring by experienced community college leaders (Instructional Technology / Instructional Design)
- Supervised clinical and student teaching experiences, including selectivity of supervising teacher
- Faculty advising (including career advising) in some graduate programs

Weaknesses

Recruitment and Application Process

- Graduate application system is complex, resulting in up to 33 percent of applications never being completed.

Admissions

- Use of standardized tests (ACT, SAT) which are not valid predictive measures of educator quality

Program Design and Delivery
