Planning for Secondary Education pathway at UW?

This pathway helps students build a strong academic foundation while exploring coursework commonly aligned with teacher preparation pathways at UW.

Professional Education Core

Commonly recommended foundational courses:

- Education Psychology
- Human Lifespan and Development
- Introduction to Special Education
- Teaching with Technology

General Education

- English Composition
- US and Wyoming Constitution

Quantitative Foundations and Applied Sciences

Build your math and science skills early:

- College Algebra
- Biology, Astronomy, Chemistry and/or Physical Geography

Content Area Foundations

Students interested in secondary education often benefit from early coursework aligned with their intended teaching area including:

English	Social Studies
Mathematics	Modern Languages
Sciences	Agriculture

Professional Readiness

Secondary education pathways combine disciplinary knowledge, communication, classroom learning, and student engagement. Students interested in teaching at the middle or high school level often benefit from early coursework aligned with their intended content area while strengthening instructional skills.

Every student's path is unique. You don't need to complete all of these courses before transferring—this guide helps you start building a strong foundation, and our team will work with you to make the most of your previous coursework, including AP, IB, CLEP, dual enrollment, and transfer credit.
