Cowboy Credit: Energy Pathway
2026-2027 University of Wyoming & Central Wyoming College

Cowboy Credit is a planning tool that helps students identify coursework that may align with a UW academic pathway before transferring to the University of Wyoming.

START YOUR PATH
Planning for a degree in Energy Resource Management and Development at UW?
Start with these commonly transferable courses to stay on track across UW's School of Energy Resources majors.

Core Courses
Take these courses before you transfer:
- Financial Accounting
- Managerial Accounting (Professional Land Management requires)
- Microeconomics
- Introduction to Energy / Energy & Society
- Physical Geology
- Legal Environment of Business
- Supply Chain Management

These courses reflect the interdisciplinary core of UW's energy programs, including earth systems, economics, and energy development.

Quantitative Foundations
Build your math and data skills early:
- College Algebra (College Algebra or higher is required as a prerequisite for Math & Statistics core)
- Calculus I
- Statistics

These courses are critical preparation for upper-division coursework in energy and resource fields.

STEM & Applied Foundations
Build your STEM foundation:
- Intro to Chemistry or Intro to Biology
- GIS
- Energy courses

The Quantitative and STEM Foundations courses are especially important for success in energy programs.

General Education
Additional courses to stay on track:
- English Composition
- Communication (Public Speaking recommended)
- Humanities / Social Sciences

Every student's path is unique. You don't need to complete all of these courses before transferring—this guide helps you start building a strong foundation, and our team will work with you to make the most of your previous coursework, including AP, IB, CLEP, dual enrollment, and transfer credit.
