Cowboy Credit: Social Work Pathway
2026-2027 University of Wyoming & Central Wyoming College

Cowboy Credit is a planning tool that helps students identify coursework that may align with a UW academic pathway before transferring to the University of Wyoming.

START YOUR PATH
Planning for a Social Work pathway at UW?
Start with these commonly transferable courses to build a strong foundation for the Social Work major.

Social Work Admission Foundations
Build your foundation early:

- Introduction to Social Work
- Sociology
- Psychology
- American and Wyoming Government
- Macroeconomics

Quantitative & Research Foundations

- Statistics

Statistics courses support research, data-informed decision making, and professional practice in the social sciences.

Human Development & Biology Foundations
Additional coursework that may support social sciences and the Social Work pathway:

- General Biology
- Human Anatomy or Biological Psychology

General Education Foundations

- English Composition
- Public Speaking or second level composition

Professional Readiness
Social work is a professional degree program. Students begin as Social Work Pre-Admit majors and must apply for admission to the BSW program before enrolling in professional social work coursework. Admission requires completion of prerequisite courses, minimum grade requirements, and at least 60 transferable credits.

Every student's path is unique. You don't need to complete all of these courses before transferring—this guide helps you start building a strong foundation, and our team will work with you to make the most of your previous coursework, including AP, IB, CLEP, dual enrollment, and transfer credit.

All students seeking admission are required to undergo a background check.
