How I can help as your peer mentor (and former transfer student):

Transferring to UW was a smooth process for me. I am here to help you transition to life at UW as easy as it was for me. I'd be more than happy to assist you with anything you need to know academically or socially about UW. I hope I can make the transfer process less difficult for you while helping you fall in love with Laramie the same way I did.

What was I nervous about? The adjustment I was most nervous about was having to come in and make new friends all over again. I ended up realizing that everyone was very friendly and welcoming to new students on campus. I was fortunate enough to find a strong friend group very quickly which made life at UW a lot better.

What was I excited about? I was excited about the opportunity to meet new people, explore the beautiful wilderness around Laramie, and attend Division 1 athletic events.

Advice for an incoming transfer student: Arrive at UW with an open and positive attitude. Getting involved in many areas around campus will open up many opportunities to grow as a student and person. If you do this, I can guarantee your time at UW will be some of the best years of your life.

What is it like being a transfer student at UW? Being a transfer student was much easier than I expected it to be. There is a large population of transfer students at UW and people are always interested to hear your transfer story. You will feel like a regular student on campus. The resources UW offers helped me fit right into Cowboy life.
