Date of Next Meeting – August 8, 2018 (conference call)

Adjournment
As will be reflected in the public and executive sessions meeting minutes, the Board of Trustees of the University of Wyoming met in Cody, Wyoming, Tuesday, July 10, through Friday, July 13, 2018. The meeting was held at the Holiday Inn. There were no Committee Meetings held. The Board’s business meeting was held Friday morning.
MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

UW President Nichols introduced new leadership and described the current searches at the University of Wyoming. Trustee True expressed his gratitude in President Nichols and her leadership.

Future of UW – Nichols

President Nichols provided a brief overview of the 5 year Strategic Plan and its four goals. She explained that the first annual report would be published in August with metrics related to the strategic plan initiatives and its goals.

Fiscal System Implementation/FY2019 Budget Highlights – Dick Scarlett, David Jewell, John McKinley

Trustee McKinley thanked the legislature for providing funding and congratulated Associate Vice President for Budgeting and Fiscal Planning, David Jewell on his accomplishments.

Associate Vice President Jewell described WyoCloud as a University wide initiative to provide modern and sophisticated solutions for today’s demands. He described the guiding principles and the multi-year and strategic resource planning. Associate Vice President Jewell believed the UW systems should be upgrading the current back office systems and providing the university with the ability to move to more contemporary solutions. He gave a brief overview of the processes before WyoCloud and how this system worked.

Trustee Scarlett emphasized how large and challenging of a project this had been. He expressed his gratitude toward Associate Vice President Jewell and his team for the work they had done.

Science Initiative Update – John McKinley, Ed Synakowski

Trustee McKinley gave an update on the progress of the Scientific Initiative building and restated the goals, including the faculty and student benefits.

Representative Mike Greear inquired about the status of the Tier I Engineering Program. Trustee Bostrom reported the task force put together by the Governor had been informally maintained and the Tier I Initiative went hand-in-hand with the Trustee Education Initiative.

Vice President for Research and Economic Development Ed Synakowski expressed his gratitude toward the legislature for releasing funds for the Science Initiative. He also extended his gratitude toward the students and faculty who helped canvass the stated describing its programs and teaching. Vice President Synakowski spoke to the question of how the building will be occupied and governed. He explained there were three themes which had been identified on a multi-scale system. He also explained that Wyoming was positioned to be a leader. Vice President Synakowski spoke to the core elements identified to fill the building and reiterated the building would not be completed on day one, and leaving flexibility was a fantastic recruiting tool. He believed the Science Initiative had potential for great things in the state, not just the campus.

Representative Donald Burkhart inquired about the University securing the $15 Million and that it was under their responsibility. Trustee McKinley responded with action related to the funds taken at the Board of Trustee meeting in March 2018.

Trustee Fall discussed the new initiative of sending students and faculty on rotary club visits statewide.

UW Work with Select Committee on UWFMRPs – Meredith Asay

Interim Director of Government Relations Meredith Asay described the work of the select committee. She described the designation as a federally qualified health center allowed access to more federal money. She explained that the current state structure was in conflict with the federal designation requirements. Interim Director Asay had conversations with the Joint Appropriations Committee (JAC), which determined that changes must be made. The University of Wyoming hoped to share recommendations for these changes at select committee meetings. Interim Director Asay asked the legislators present to pay attention to the work of the select committee as it navigated necessary structural changes.

Senator Charles Scott agreed that structure would necessitate a contract to specify who would do what and the issues that were likely to be contentious and guide the state away from managing those.

Representative Mike Greear asked about the yield of residency programs and the physicians who have stayed in the State. Senator Charles Scott explained the yield was short but the percentages were still valuable. Senator Scott went on to explain the difficulty was in how to keep accreditation and recruitment to gain a better yield off of the WAMMI program.

Trustee McKinley inquired about specific committee work related to satellite locations. Senator Charles Scott stated Cheyenne and Casper offer a variety of clinical resources and therefore the residencies would need to stay in these local areas. He went on to explain that there may be room for some small expansions which may improve the yield.

Trustee Education Initiative – John McKinley

Trustee Bostrom explained that the Trustee Education Initiative (TEI) came from the trustees desire to elevate the College of Education. He further explained the trustees approached the Daniels fund and received a $5 Million grant over five years to begin implementation of this Initiative. There are a total of six TEI funded projects that are currently ongoing. He shared with the legislators that the University has contracted with Entangled Solutions to manage a great deal of the aspects of the implementation. He added that a report would be issued to the Daniels Fund.

Senator Charles Scott remarked on the importance of the initiative and commended the University on it.
Representative Mike Greear inquired about the articulation agreements with Community Colleges for education. Associate Vice President for Enrollment Kyle Moore responded that they were up to 182 articulation agreements in total. Representative Greear shared his concern that the College of Education continued to be a stumbling block.

Provost Kate Miller added she felt the University of Wyoming’s articulation is one of the best in the country. Associate Vice Provost Moore reported on four signed educational articulations with Community Colleges to date. Senator Charles Scott gave credit for the progress being made.

Trustee Bostrom cautioned about the protocols of articulation agreements.

UW/Community College Relations – Nichols/Kyle Moore

UW President Nichols noted that the relationship between the University and the community colleges was perhaps the best it had ever been. She talked about the Higher Education Attainment Goal for Wyoming and how it was a joint initiative. She also reported on some of the things that they had been working on together.

Associate Vice President for Enrollment Kyle Moore noted how much support there was for the initiative.

Recruitment/Fall 2018 Enrollment – Kyle Moore

Associate Vice President for Enrollment Kyle Moore reported on enrollment of students and recruitment trends at the University for the upcoming Fall 2018 semester.

Trustee Scarlett inquired about the transfers of the upper classmen and if they were being tracked. Associate Vice President Moore noted that there were structures on campus to capture reasons for withdrawals.

Senator Ray Peterson discussed dorm requirements for freshmen and how they should be adjusted to fit different situations. Trustee Scarlett voiced his agreement. Vice President of Student Affairs Sean Blackburn noted that the requirements would be reviewed.

UW Housing – McKinley/Brown/Blackburn/legislative task force members if in attendance

Trustee McKinley reported about the progress about the task force. Trustee Brown noted that part of the effort was due to a study that proved living in dorms was beneficial. Policy Advisor Mary Kay Hill noted that the price of new housing would be worth it.

Trustee Scarlett added that he thought that Fraternities and Sororities housing on campus lacked supervision. Vice President of Student Affairs Sean Blackburn reported that it was under review.

UW and ENDOW – Ed Synakowski

Vice President for Research and Economic Development Ed Synakowski reported on the work UW was doing with and in response to ENDOW. He spoke about the Institute of Innovation and Entrepreneurship (IIE) and how it would help to benefit the University. He added that a Chief Operating Officer candidate had been identified and negotiations were underway. He noted that a question associated with this was how the University would couple with the resources outside of UW. He added that a tech transfer office could provide services to Wyoming inventors. He noted that in Fall 2018 they would be reviewing many of the aspects of the engagement with the Wyoming Business Council.

Senator Charles Scott discussed his strategic principles for the University of Wyoming, and a suggested framework for UW.

Open Discussion

Representative Mike Greear stated that they still needed to continue to use the University as a conduit for research in areas through which the state is still funded.

Senator Ray Peterson noted that tax structures were not set up to take advantage of economic development and diversification efforts. He added that unless the tax structure changed, they needed to be smart with economic diversification. Senator Cale Case noted that what the model said was that we had the best structure possible to attract business because people come to Wyoming and do not have to pay taxes. He added that there was some easy ways to improve tax structure like the explosion of wind energy in the state which was a taking industry and not a giving industry. He noted that there could be improvements to the tax structure related to exemptions. He also spoke to attracting out of state students stating that UW provided them a fine service.

Senator Ray Peterson asked if the University kept track of in state purchasing vs. out of state. He also added that he would like to see that figure on an annual report.

Representative Dan Laursen discussed the experiment station and the seed certification and swept funds. He also brought up the payroll for the director and asked for guidance on who to talk to and how to get those dollars back. Trustee McKinley recollected that a trustee budget committee hearing addressed the topic on May 8 and some of those funds had been consolidated.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

UW President Nichols gave a review of some of the key accomplishments of the 2017-2018 fiscal year, including projects that were still ongoing, as listed in the PowerPoint provided in the Trustees Board Report. She felt that it was important to celebrate education, and mentioned that year had seen 2600 graduates between the fall and spring semesters.

UW President Nichols provided a legislative and budget recap regarding what took place in the past legislative session with the biennium budget. She also mentioned the new hires including Vice President for Finance and Administration Neil Theobald, Interim Director of Government Relations Meredith Asay, a new Associate Vice President for Global Engagement and a new College of Business Dean who would be joining UW in August. She noted that the search for a new College of Agriculture Dean would be underway in a few months.

UW President Nichols provided the Board with the first annual report on the five year Strategic Plan which would be ready for review in full at the September meeting with an additional goal to have a short publication ready to roll out, to put on the website, and to distribute by the end of August. She noted that by 2022 some of the goals would start to be reached.

Trustee Fall inquired about the student participation and support services. UW President Nichols responded that she did not think that professional advising was included, but she asked to do further investigation on how those numbers were being tracked and do a follow up.

Trustee Scarlett wondered if the reduction of the four year graduation rate could be due to the University over aggressively admitting students whom were not properly prepared for college. UW President Nichols replied that she did not think that was the case. She believed that the decline had more to do with academic advising and course availability, both of which were being improved.

Trustee Sullivan questioned the difference between the Campus Climate Survey and the Great Colleges Survey. UW President Nichols explained the difference between the two surveys. She noted that neither survey had been completed in the recent past.

President Nichols asked the Board to look at the metrics critically and identify areas in need of change. Trustee Sullivan remarked on appreciation of a consistent review as an opportunity to continue to improve.
President Nichols spoke about initiatives to drive implementation of the strategic plan. She noted that the Office of Engagement and Outreach would be launched in January 2019. She noted the growing target populations at the Honors College, the Native American Cultural, Education and Research Center, and the Transfer Center. She reported on enrollment, growth, tuition and housing. President Nichols briefly discussed the Institute of Innovation and Entrepreneurship (IIE) which was approved by the Board in January 2018. She outlined continuing strategic initiatives to include Tier I Engineering Initiative; Trustees Education Initiative and the Science Initiative.

President Nichols then discussed Educational Attainment in Wyoming. She also reported that the University had been selected as a finalist for SHEEO financial support and they were now able to submit the full proposal. She suggested this would be a reoccurring topic in the next year.

Trustee Sullivan described the impactful partnership between UW and the Community Colleges in the state.

Trustee Scarlett asked if they were effectively using the county extension agents who were employed by the University. UW President Nichols described how the University was using extension educators and its effectiveness. Trustee Scarlett added a request to measure these positions and their contributions to the University.
AGENDA ITEM TITLE:
Tuition Recommendations for FY20 (2019-2020 Academic Year) Timeline for Public Comment and Approval, Update Policy, Jewell/Kyle Moore

CHECK THE APPROPRIATE BOX(ES):
☐ Work Session
☐ Education Session
☒ Information Item
☐ Other Specify: Committee of the Whole (Items for Approval)

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:
Associate Vice President for Budgeting and Fiscal Planning David Jewell reminded the Board about moving up the calendar of approving the tuition recommendations for the upcoming academic year. He brought forward for consideration the 2019-2020 tuition recommendation and provided an outline of the process. He noted that this would be the last year of the policy that called for a 4% tuition increase.

Associate Vice President Jewell noted that one of the proposed rates that would be a deviation from the existing policy was for online tuition for non-Resident Graduate Students. Trustee President True asked for clarification on the absolute number of enrolled students and if it had been maxed out at 96. Associate Vice President Jewell responded that it had. Trustee McKinley asked for clarification on if it included full-time or part-time graduate students. Associate Vice President Jewell replied that it was a headcount regardless of the hours being taken.

Associate Vice President Jewell proposed for consideration that beginning in the 2019-2020 academic year, the University set the online non-resident graduate education tuition rate to be in line with the median of the market peers, including fees. He noted that an exact estimate would be proposed following feedback from the Board.

There was discussion on the protection of the integrity of the University, and that the cost of proctored exams factored into the pricing. Policy Advisor Mary Kay Hill added that it would be helpful to articulate the differences in the services involved for an online student compared to a student on campus.

Trustee McKinley asked if there needed to be action from the Board at the time. Associate Vice President Jewell explained that this was for consideration and information purposes. He also outlined the potential timeline for the process. He noted that in September this would be a separate rate of tuition for the Board to take action on.

Trustee Sullivan inquired about a potential need for a broader look into price sensitivity across colleges. Associate Vice President Jewell discussed market differentiation and differential rates.

Associate Vice Provost for Enrollment Management Kyle Moore reported on undergraduate tuition rates and the directional cues identified in the Huron Study. He noted that he believed resetting the portrayal of non-resident tuition fees could move the University into a share of the college decision making factor. He added they believed that in order to achieve this, the University would need to adjust the non-resident tuition rate.

Trustee MacPherson inquired about the factors determining the rate. Associate Vice Provost Moore clarified that this looked particularly at the tuition side of factors. Trustee MacPherson asked if the University could educate a student on that amount with the costs. Trustee Fall asked how many additional students would be needed to make up the difference. Associate Vice Provost Moore replied that it would be about 300 students. He noted that this was a consideration for the opportunity of a strategic move.

Trustee McKinley explained his concerns. He noted that he did not want to rush into decisions about out-of-state tuition and wished to recognize the trustee policy regarding the automatic tuition increase. He suggested a more strategic and encompassing plan might be devised to take all the pieces into account. Trustee Sullivan inquired about the percentage of out-of-state students currently being discounted. Associate Vice President Jewell replied that for fall 2018 31% of non-resident students would not receive a discount and 69% would. Trustee Brown noted that the legislature was not interested in subsidizing out-of-state students. He added that the Board needed the tools to be able to explain to the Legislature to explain the revenue.

Faculty Senate Chair Donal O’Toole asked what the current percentage of out-of-state undergraduate students was, and if there was a number associated with the Strategic Plan. Associate Vice Provost Moore replied that there was a 50/50 ratio of resident and non-resident students for the incoming freshman class. UW President Nichols replied that there was not a specific target number. Faculty Senate Chair O’Toole asked if UW would be better with a larger percentage of non-resident students and it could put the block grant into jeopardy.

Trustee Baldwin noted that due to the decrease in high school enrollment UW would continue to have minimal growth in enrollment for the next three or four years. Trustee Moore shared her concern about the discounting.

Trustee McKinley requested that an answer to that question on the net cost and the impacts on revenue be provided. He noted that a more broad comprehensive analysis was important. Associate Vice Provost Moore replied that they would provide a more comprehensive response at the September meeting. There was discussion on when this would be opened for public comment.

Trustee True explained, according to the Trustees Policy on Tuition, they needed to be in position to review the tuition policy at the November meeting.

Associate Vice President for Budgeting and Fiscal Planning David Jewell presented the working draft of the supplemental budget, to be presented to Governor Mead which was due by August 31, 2018.

Policy Advisor Mary Kay Hill inquired if the scholarships would be ongoing and if the money would go into a scholarship endowment account. Trustee McKinley responded that a permanent endowment would allow for larger scholarship funds and the elimination of discounts.

General Counsel Tara Evans added that Committees were not considered the governing board, and the requirements of the open meeting did not apply to them.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:
Trustee McKinley provided background as to how this topic came up. He explained the issue with Article IX of the Trustee Bylaws, and read the current language and proposed change of the Bylaw.

Professor Michael Barker provided background to the issue. He suggested that the Board consider putting in the Bylaws that there would be a regulatory review period for the constituents.

Trustee McKinley added that there had been a request that certain timeframes be added to the Article. He noted what the language of concern was and that it was important to bring it in front of the Board.

Trustee MacPherson stated his opposition of the requested change. Professor Barker clarified that the faculty was asking for there to be consistency in language as it relates to shared governance. Trustee MacPherson clarified that this was a request to amend the Bylaws.

Trustee McKinley noted that he was comfortable with the current language in the Article, and that he did not want the Board to be in a situation where they would be restricted to act. He added that it was a trust issue that went both ways.

Staff Senate Chair Renee Ballard noted that this was an important topic for staff senate and there was a desire to have a voice, not necessarily to sway. Faculty Senate Chair Donal O’Toole spoke about how helpful open communication could be in the future.

Trustee Brown quoted the State Constitution about the governing power of the Board of Trustees. He noted that he would vote against a Bylaw change, but he would give deference to dialog and an opportunity to share information.

Professor Barker stated his pride in the work of the faculty senate in the past year and its regulation review. He noted his appreciation for Trustee McKinley bringing the topic up.

She reminded the Board that there was no action to be taken at the time.

Trustee McKinley thanked Provost Miller for her presentation. He also expressed his appreciation for the options about how the programs could be improved.

Trustee Sullivan proposed that this could lead to potential opportunities across the state. Trustee Bostrom noted that the current Board had previously discussed a funding mechanism to provide support privately and not publically.
MINUTES OF THE MEETING:
Trustee Bostrom provided an update about the Trustee’s Education Initiative (TEI). He noted how it had become apparent that they needed better guidance principles, and that was why a document had been created. [See Attachment II] He expressed his excitement for where the Initiative was going.

Business Meeting
Holiday Inn

Trustee Sullivan made a statement about the marketing campaign, which reads as follows:

I want to acknowledge that we had this discussion yesterday and thank Trustee True for giving me a couple of minutes, but given the depth of emotion that we have heard today, and I have read this morning on the University’s twitter feed, I have asked Trustee True if I could make a comment.

I am the fifth generation of my family to reside in Wyoming and my choice to continue to reside in Wyoming after having worked very hard to return to the state has not been without cost. As is reflected in my vote yesterday and in my vote when the campaign was introduced to us earlier this year, I fully support this rebranding image.

That said, I feel that I would be complicit if I did not express my own concern with the treatment of those who have expressed what I believe are many of the qualities we have we say are the best qualities of a cowboy:
If we have…
Relentless Curiosity.”
Unbendable Optimism.”
are Outside Thinkers.”
Fearless Independence and Unyielding Courage”
We need to be willing to create a space so each of us can listen to those who have different perspectives.

Trustee Bostrom reported the Foundation recently held their annual meetings during which they elected their officers for the next two years:
- Greg Hill – Chair of the Board
- Tim Botts – Vice Chair of the Board
- Mary Shafer Malicki – Secretary of the Board

These roles became effective at the June Board meetings in Denver.

The Foundation closed out FY18 with a private support giving total just over $51 million dollars ($51,051,299.57).

Some key gifts this year were as follows:
- The Carlson Estate - $4.4 Million PG realized this year, augments their Previous Excellence Fund in Geology and Geophysics. This gift would get this fund up to around $6 MM. The uses for this fund were very broad including general department support.
- Dave and Cory LeNorman - $2.5 Million matched to $5 Million to be used to create a Chair in P/E, which would be used to recruit and retain the P/E Department Head. Once funded, would be one of the largest Chairs on campus
- James and Jill Anderson - $1.6 Million, divided evenly between scholarships in Agriculture and Geology.
- Anne Mears - $1.4 Million PG, would augment their existing endowment that support the Geology Museum. Would name a small space within the Museum in honor of Dr. Brainerd Mears.

_Presidential Evaluation Task Force_
Trustee True announced the discontinuation of this Committee.
Energy Resources Council – Dave True
Trustee Dave True reported on the updates as given by Mark Northam, as follows:

1. Activity in the area of Carbon Dioxide Management continued to grow:
   a. UW/SER is the lead organization on a DOE-funded CarbonSAFE Phase 2 grant. The goal of this research grant was to determine the feasibility of establishing a commercial-scale geological CO2 storage complex in Wyoming’s Powder River Basin near Basin Electric Power Cooperative’s Dry Fork Station. The two-year, $12.25 million project ($9.77 M DOE, $2.5 M cost share) would involve the drilling of a stratigraphic test well near Dry Fork Station to collect core material in order to evaluate the geological, geophysical, geochemical, geomechanical and hydraulically characteristics present. The data would help determine the suitability of the underground geologic formations for commercial CO2 storage.
   b. This Phase 2 award promised to establish the Dry Forks Station as the most complete CO2 management facility in North America. CO2 that may be captured at Dry Fork Station in the future would have multiple disposition options: conversion to valuable products (being demonstrated at the Integrated Test Center); enhanced oil recovery in many candidate fields in the PRB; or storage in saline aquifer. It was important to have this complete range of options so that changing market conditions did not hamper the operations of the power plant.
   c. They were very fortunate to have great working relationships in Basin Electric Power Cooperative, a variety of Wyoming field service companies, and other regional research entities to make these programs work.
   d. They continued to pursue CO2 storage research at the Rock Springs Uplift (Jim Bridger Plant) in partnership with PacifiCorp, Rocky Mountain Power, and the University of Utah. UW/SER sought but failed to win a second CarbonSAFE Phase 2 grant at this location. The partners were quite anxious to progress this research through alternative funding sources.

2. Activity in Carbon Engineering continues to develop potentially valuable intellectual property, and was beginning to show some commercial success.
   a. Regarding intellectual property, they continued to add patents from the past two years of work, and had just finished a full review of research projects to be funded by the FY19 research budget ($1 M one-time appropriation from the state, $1 M for SER standard budget). They anticipated 4-5 projects following on from the last period to move promising technologies up the technology readiness scale.
   b. Regarding the latter, they met with Clean Coal Technology Inc. (CCTI) – a Tulsa, OK based company that would soon build a coal beneficiation plant near the Fort Union Mine in Gillette. CCTI credits UW with demonstrating the viability of their technology and facilitating their relationships in Wyoming, India, and Japan. CCTI was nearing an agreement to export 2 million tons of beneficiated PRB coal per year to a foreign country as a test. If successful, the potential market would be dramatically higher.

3. They continue to seek a Carbon Engineering Professor. This is a joint SER/CEAS position, and we seek an experienced faculty member to lead the research program, mentor younger facility, and spearhead a workforce development program. The first round of interviews identified an interested candidate, but the search committee concluded that the candidate did not bring a sufficient set of the attributes we seek. Rather than dig deeper into the existing list of candidates, we are working to motivate additional candidates to apply.
