5. Space allocation needs/amount and quality of space.

- A. Our greatest concern for space is for the Department of Botany which currently resides in Aven Nelson, an iconic campus building that is ill-suited for science labs. This very productive department will see a number of faculty move into the SI building when it is completed, giving them cutting edge research labs.
- B. Communication and Journalism has requested a specialized lab for the use of their new endowed chair in photojournalism. That request will soon be a reality with the ‘paperwork’ in process.
- C. With a total of 18 departments and two schools, there will always be requests for additional (and better quality) space. Botany and CoJo represent the most pressing needs at this time.
