AGENDA ITEM TITLE: COVID-19 Update, Seidel
MINUTES OF MEETING:
University President Ed Seidel provided an update on the university’s ongoing efforts to help mitigate the spread of COVID-19, to include vaccination rates to date, adding that administration continues to encourage, but not require vaccines with the exception of the Early Childhood Education Center (ECEC) which requires employee vaccination with standard exemptions in place. President Seidel stated that per the Wyoming Department of Health classification system, Albany County is in the “moderate-high” transmission level. President Seidel spoke to the legislation passed by the Wyoming Legislature that is pending Governor Mark Gordon’s signature, which would allow the University of Wyoming and other entities that would lose federal funding by not requiring employee vaccinations, to require vaccinations with the caveat that if courts grant injunctions or stays to block the federal mandates. President Seidel stated the university and other state entities will not implement the mandate while court cases are ongoing, and that it is anticipated that religious and medical exemptions would apply to the federal vaccine mandate. President Seidel further reported that while the federal mandate for entities that employ over 100 people would allow employees to submit to weekly COVID-19 tests in lieu of vaccination, the federal contractor and Medicare/Medicaid mandates don’t include the testing option. President Seidel stated that College of Health Sciences Dean David Jones continues to provide him weekly reports with recommendations on COVID-19 mitigation. President Seidel stated that he recommends face coverings continue to be required in all indoor spaces except where social distancing is possible, and where social distancing can be consistently maintained.

Trustee Macey Moore expressed desire to lift the mask policy. Trustee Elizabeth Greenwood and Trustee Carol Linton concurred. Trustee David Fall stated support of the policy through the Fall semester. Lachelle Brant discussed contact tracing at the state level. Staff Senate President Chris Maki expressed support of the current mask policy. ASUW President Hunter Swilling requested consideration of long-term consequences of lifting the current policy, and requested information as to whether faculty will choose online delivery in the event the mask policy is lifted. Trustee Kermit Brown stated the importance of in person classes, noting the effect of lifting mask policy is unknown and decisions should be science based.

Mask Standards
11-18-2021 @ 10:45 a.m.
Trustee John McKinley moved to keep in place the standards regarding COVID-19 campus requirements passed by the Board at its September 2021 meeting as follows:

Continue the current mask policy as is stated on page 8 of the Fall COVID-19 Plan with one exception: to allow patrons of Half Acre to remove their masks when participating in recreational activities, sport or fitness or when in the audience if at a voluntary public event. Patrons will still be required to wear masks when entering and exiting the building, at all customer service desks, and in meeting rooms. I also move that this policy be revisited at each subsequent Board of Trustees meeting.

The motion carried via roll call vote. Trustees Elizabeth Greenwood, Macey Moore and Chairman Jeff Marsh voted no.
AGENDA ITEM TITLE: Update: Trustees Education Initiative, Thomas

MINUTES OF MEETING:
College of Education Dean Scott Thomas and Chair of the Trustees Education Initiative (TEI) Governing Board Dave Bostrom provided the annual update to the Board on TEI. Thomas provided a summary of the creation of TEI, made possible by the 2015 gift from the Daniels Fund. Thomas detailed TEI accomplishments since inception and noted its success placing pre-service teachers in Albany and Laramie Counties, further noting the Wyoming School University Partnership (WySUP) has provided networking support which helped to provide a high-quality education experience online during the pandemic. Thomas stated the College of Education (COE) which supports TEI is comprised of talented and committed faculty, though across TEI’s history the dedicated support of the initiative is down by ~25%. Thomas stated that the college will work to rebuild a foundation of support to include reframing the educator preparation with a commitment to creating master teachers and a reconceptualization to align with future needs, from entry into COE programs to success 10 year in the future, creating a deliberate path from graduation, into the first few years of professional teaching and back into the masters programs. Bostrom spoke of Thomas’ consideration commitment to TEI, further noting the benefits of the Board’s continued support for the initiative, coupled with ongoing assistance from the state and the Daniels Fund. Department of Education, Chief Policy Officer Kari Eakins spoke in support of TEI.

AGENDA ITEM TITLE: Presentation Nerve Graft Immunosuppression, Bushman

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

https://www.uwyo.edu/trustees/_files/docs/2021_board_meetings/2021_nov_supplemental/thurs-11am---bushman.pdf

Bushman stated that the Localis Therapeutics LLC was established as a startup to further develop the technology, and discussed funding, partnerships and collaborations. Prompted by inquiry from Trustee Kermit Brown, there was Trustee discussion about ways the university can support the research efforts. University President Ed Seidel discussed opportunity for corporate partnership across the institution.

AGENDA ITEM TITLE: UW Regulation 2-13 (Academic Program Reorganization, Consolidation, Reduction, and Discontinuance), Seidel, Carman, Theobald

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:
University President Ed Seidel provided opening remarks summarizing the university restructuring process which began in November 2020 with a request to academic units to provide an in-depth program review. President Seidel stated the process allowed for an iterative progression with robust discussion, and the examination of data and best practices at the University of Wyoming and peer institutions. President Seidel discussed the FY23 budget challenge the UW Regulation 2-13 process was meant to address, and the opportunity to reassess resource allocations and implement educational and strategic realignments. President Seidel stated to the university community that it was heard, and that going forward administration will continue to engage in discussion and provide targeted communications early and often. President Seidel stated UW will have to diversify revenue to federal, corporate and philanthropic sources to address declining state budgets; that the proposed recommendations including realigning the physical sciences with engineering, realigning the life sciences with agriculture, restructuring the college of education to focus on teacher education, elevating computing through consolidating computer science and electrical and computer engineering and integrating the School of Computing are aimed at attracting more students and diversifying revenue by opening up more opportunities for federal research and development and corporate and private partnerships. President Seidel stated the proposal before the Board includes supporting and growing the university programs in the arts, humanities, and social sciences so that University of Wyoming graduates are highly-skilled critical thinkers who can solve the complex problems of Wyoming and the world. President Seidel closed his remarks stating he was proud of the outcome; that it meets the vision for the future of the University of Wyoming to be more interdisciplinary, more inclusive, more entrepreneurial, and more digital.

Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs Kevin Carman provided the Board a summary of the process for university program reorganization, consolidation, reduction and discontinuance in accordance with UW Regulation 2-13. Carman discussed the establishment of 11 review committees, in addition to committees led by deans, which provided feedback on proposals per UW Regulation 2-13. Carman stated that a plan for ‘Restructuring UW for Wyoming’s Future’ was presented by the president and provost at the Board’s July 13-16, 2021, meeting. Carman said that the July 2021 plan included preliminary recommendations for the reorganization, consolidation, reduction and discontinuance of academic degree programs, colleges, and/or departments, and that on October 13, 2021, he provided the Board with an interim report that identified items that would be adjusted in the final recommendations. Carman stated that following a 120-day review period and upon consideration of feedback received from faculty, staff, students, administrators, and other stakeholders, final recommendations were submitted to President Seidel, noting that reorganizations will not result in the termination of tenured faculty or Academic Personnel in Extended Terms or Fixed-Term Rolling Contracts.

The recommendations are as follows:

1. Reorganize the College of Education, implementation July 1, 2022 (FY23). A review committee will examine a proposal to discontinue two graduate degree programs in the college, including the Ph.D. in Counseling and in Learning, Design & Technology.
2. Reorganize the Colleges of Arts & Sciences, Agriculture & Natural Resources, and Engineering & Applied Sciences to better align the life and physical sciences and the humanities, social sciences, and arts, with full implementation by July 1, 2023 (FY24).
3. Suspend the required review period specified in UW Regulation 2-13 to allow for extended discussion over the next year to address the move of HDFS and DMT programs, with final recommendation to the Board in January, 2023.
5. Give authority to the Provost and Executive Vice President to implement some components of the restructuring plan by July 1, 2022 (FY23) (described below) while pausing to engage in thoughtful discussion over the larger, structural changes before implementing changes no later than July 1, 2023 (FY24). The Provost and Executive Vice President will provide the Board with updates throughout the year.
Carman went on to describe the information found on the Restructuring Academic Programs At-a-Glance document provided to the Board.

Senior Vice President for Finance and Administration Neil Theobald summarized budget considerations related and in addition to the UW Regulation 2-13 process, stating that while the proposed reorganizations were driven, in part, by budget considerations, the anticipated savings of approximately two million dollars annually, will not achieve the reductions necessary to respond to the drop in state funding and reallocate resources for new university initiatives such as the establishment of a School of Computing; a Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation (CEI); and the Wyoming Outdoor Recreation, Tourism and Hospitality (WORTH) Initiative; which the president has stated are integral to the success of the Wyoming Innovation Partnership (WIP). Trustee John McKinley reminded the Board that additional proposed reductions and revenue enhancements will be refined during the university’s regular budget process for the coming fiscal year.

Associate Vice President of Budget and Planning Alex Kean provided summary of the targeted revenue challenge as discussed at the July 2021 Board meeting. Kean went on to discuss the identification of potential budget reductions in response. Kean stated the provost’s office received plans from deans for reductions based on either a 3%, 5% or 15% amount per academic department that rolled up to a target amount per college, further stating the plans relied on eliminating vacant positions at the end of FY2022. Kean discussed implementation of academic policy efficiencies through reduced allocations in the provost’s strategic initiative priorities. Kean discussed evaluation of employment policies resulting in the elimination of the mobile communication device policy; consolidations made in auxiliaries; and consideration of increase in parking fees. Kean concluded stating the budget office reviewed 3-year average of actual expenditures vs. FY2022 approved budget by expense category for both Academic Colleges and Non-Academic Divisions. Kean reported the FY2023 budget build process will include an evaluation of historically unexpended budget lines in an attempt to avoid across the board reduction targets that will undoubtedly have negative unanticipated impacts.

Trustee John McKinley stated Board action on the budget reductions as presented is not necessary and will be addressed in May 2022 when the Board receives information regarding the FY2023 budget.

President Seidel stated that he appreciated the Board’s support of the vision for the university, and said administration is ready to move ahead with the changes and work with university stakeholders to make the University of Wyoming the best institution it can be. President Seidel concluded by stating he could not be more excited for the future of UW.

Trustee John McKinley stated his appreciation for the work that has gone into the final recommendations to the university president, further discussing the timeframe outlined in UW Regulation 2-13 as it relates to potential Board action on items presented. ASUW President Hunter Swilling discussed the student review committee and stated student support for the proposed restructuring. Swilling thanked administration for the work and for taking constituent feedback into account. Trustee David Fall suggested the Board provide endorsement or direction, further stating support for the proposed pause as recommended.

Wyoming Department of Education, Chief Policy Officer Kari Eakins expressed appreciation on behalf of State Superintendent for Public Instruction Jillian Balow and the department regarding the changes to the reorganization for the College of Education and their graduate level programs. Eakins further discussed the impact these graduate level courses have had on K-12 educators and their success in Wyoming.

Faculty Senate Chairman Adrienne Freng commended administration for engaging in difficult conversation with the university community about the reorganization. Freng commented that Carmen’s recommendations to the president strike a balance between making necessary changes while ensuring time for further consideration. Freng concluded her remarks encouraging the Board and administration to utilize the extra time to not only discuss implementation, but to also deliberate through the strategic planning process about the future of the university.

Staff Senate President Chris Maki provided the Board personal insight on the value of the Family and Consumer Science programs. In response, Carmen stated how much he respected her perspective, and assuaged concern stating per his recommendations to the president the programs will continue under a different structure.
