AGENDA ITEM TITLE: Update from UW President – Seidel

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

UW President Ed Seidel opened his report to the Board stating that for the first time in two years the meeting agenda did not include an update on the COVID-19 pandemic. President Seidel went on to acknowledge the campus climate as a result of budget cuts and other uncertainties, and the need to shore up the foundations of the institution. President Seidel described the work toward identifying a salary allocation plan in response to the $16m legislative appropriation to be used for salary increases for the two year biennium, and went on to discuss administration’s commitment toward retention at the university. President Seidel went on to describe the ongoing discussions related to fundraising priorities to be recommended to the Board.

President Seidel went on to express his gratitude toward College of Health Sciences Dean David Jones in advance of his retirement, and College of Business Interim Dean Rob Godby for his interim service. President Seidel thanked Interim Vice President for Research and Economic Development Diana Hulme for her contributions to the unit, and reported the new vice president Parag Chitnis will start on May 31, 2022. President Seidel announced that Vice President for Student Affairs Kim Chestnut has agreed to serve as Interim Vice President for Diversity, Equity and Inclusion during the search process. President Seidel went on to commend Vice President for Institutional Advancement Ben Blalock for the breadth of his contributions to the University of Wyoming over the course of more than twenty years at the University of Wyoming and welcomed Blalock’s successor John Stark as Interim Vice President. President Seidel provided the Board an update on the efforts toward identifying a Vice President for Government Relations and Community Affairs.

President Seidel briefly discussed the Strategic Planning process and reported on a productive visit to the Wind River Reservation. President Seidel provided the Board information on the upcoming Mountain West Innovation Summit hosted by the University of Wyoming under the auspices of the National Commission on Innovation and Competitiveness Frontier. The summit, President Seidel said, will feature keynotes from Wyoming Governor Mark Gordon, the National Science Foundation Assistant Director Erwin Gianchandani, and Canoo Technologies, Inc, Chairman and CEO Tony Aquila. The summit will take place June 21-22, 2022.

In closing, President Seidel stated he was looking forward to the Spring 2022 Commencement Ceremonies on May 14, 2022, and expressed sincere condolences to Trustee Laura Schmid-Pizzato, and the Pizzato family for the unexpected loss of Bret Pizzato.

AGENDA ITEM TITLE: Scholarship and Financial Aid Strategy 2023-24 – Carman/Kean/K. Moore/Barrett

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs Kevin Carman, Deputy Vice President for Budget and Finance Alex Kean, and Vice Provost for Enrollment Management Kyle Moore provided the Board a summary of 2020-21 and 2021-22 awarding cycles related to the Financial Aid Strategy approved at the July 2019 Board meeting. It was reported that to achieve a balance between projected net revenue outcomes and to reduce barriers related to recruitment and retention, administration recommends a modification to the awarding for transfer student opportunities, and the establishment of an enhanced recruiting and retention option for college deans for the 2023-24 awarding cycle.

In response to inquiry from Trustee John McKinley, Kean discussed the recommendations related to the proposed changes to the existing policy as follows:

Recommendation #1: Modify Transfer Opportunities
The recommended modifications would include eliminating the Associate Degree requirement and establishing a GPA based criteria, outlined on page 7 of the May 2022 UW Board of Trustees Report for both resident and non-resident transfer students. It would be available to transfer students seeking their first bachelor’s degree with a minimum of 12 completed transfer credits (post high school). Requirements to maintain eligibility are outlined as follows:

- This scholarship is renewable for up to 6 semesters (3 academic years) or completion of first bachelor’s degree, whichever comes first.
- Students must maintain full-time enrollment (12 semester hours) during the fall and spring semesters each year (minimum total of 24 semester hours) but is not available to use doing the summer semester.
- Students must maintain a 3.0 cumulative UW GPA (evaluated at the end of each spring semester).

Recommendation #2: Establish a College Dean Award Option for Enhanced Recruiting and Retention for AY 2023-24
- For Academic Year 2022-23, College deans will be allowed to award up to $10,000 from one of their foundation accounts (scholarship or discretionary) to help retain high achieving students.
- For Academic Year 2023-24, College deans will be allowed to award up to $10,000 from one of their foundation accounts (scholarship or discretionary) to help recruit and retain high achieving students.
- The funds will be permitted to exceed a student institutional (Cowboy, Brown and Goad, or Transfer) commitment.
- The intent of this $10,000 will be to recruit and/or retain students as determined by the college dean.
- The selection of students will remain at the discretion of the college dean.
- Scholarships and Financial Aid will continue to work with Enrollment Management and college deans to review the effectiveness of this approach with the goal of determining a long-term solution.

Trustee McKinley clarified recommendation #1 would not include high school graduates that have obtained college credit hours during their high school career. Kean informed the Board that the Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) scholarship and the Nebraska transfer award would remain in place, as previously approved. In response to query from Trustee David Fall, Director Scholarships and Financial Aid Anna Terfehr explained that the Nebraska transfer award is the equivalent of the long-standing WUE award, which has minimal recipients, but is still an important border partnership with Nebraska.
As it relates to recommendation #2, Kean stated that the Office of Financial Aid would continue to work with enrollment management, as well as the deans and directors to review the effectiveness of the proposed change and make further recommendations as necessary. There was significant Board discussion regarding retention and recruitment of students and the positive effects of additional monetary incentives in a variety of cases to include competing with other institutions as it relates to student decision making.

AGENDA ITEM TITLE: FY2023 Salary Allocation Plan – Seidel/Carman/Kean

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

UW President Ed Seidel and Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs Kevin Carman provided the Board information related to the appropriation during the recent budget session of $8m annually from the Wyoming Legislature and Governor Mark Gordon for salary allocation at the University of Wyoming. President Seidel reported that set to take effect in the fiscal year that begins July 1, 2022, this is the first broad-based raise for University of Wyoming employees since the 2018-19 fiscal year. President Seidel stated administration has proposed a plan to address the institution’s most pressing compensation issues while providing flexibility for supervisors at the unit level to direct dollars where they are needed most. President Seidel further expressed his appreciation of the support of the governor and lawmakers for these increases, which are just a start to address the significant compensation issues across the university. President Seidel went on to state the plan was developed with input from a salary administration, classification and compensation working group that included Faculty and Staff Senate leadership. President Seidel stated the group’s allocation methodology focused on providing larger percentage raises to employees in the lowest pay grades without creating additional salary compression. Feedback from the president’s cabinet also shaped the proposal.

Under the plan, the increase of about $8 million annually would be equally divided into two pools:

-- The first pool provides for a salary increase of $1,900 for employees with base pay up to $79,999.99, decreasing to $1,400 for employees with base pay between $80,000-$149,999.99. Employees with base salaries above $150,000 would not be eligible for an increase from this pool. For those near the bottom of the pay scale, making about $24,000 annually, this piece of the increase would equate to about 8 percent; for those making $149,000, it would be just under 1 percent.

-- The second pool equates to an additional 2.25% raise overall but would be discretionary and used to individually address merit, market and compression issues. Funds would be distributed at the unit level, with unit allocations based on each unit’s percentage of total payroll for employee base pay up to $150,000 -- although those making more than that could receive increases from this pool.

Under the plan, all benefited employees hired before Jan. 5, 2022, would be eligible to receive salary increases, regardless of the funding source. Probationary staff employees would be included in the allocation, but any approved salary increases for them would not be effective until completion of the probation period. Employees receiving promotion or retention raises during the current fiscal year are not excluded.
Distribution of funds from the second pool to address merit, market and compression to individual employees would be at the discretion of the department head or director, although those plans would have to be reviewed and approved by the provost for academic colleges and the appropriate vice president for non-academic divisions. State-funded graduate assistant stipend minimum amounts would increase by 4 percent; departments could offer higher stipend amounts if other funding is available.

Deputy Vice President for Budget and Finance Alex Kean stated that not all funding for the university is through the state aid block grant, which requires the university to identify additional resources to increase the amount by $1.75m in order to provide the same raise opportunities across the whole institution. Trustee Jeff Marsh asked Kean to explain the second raise pool; whether the 2.25% would be considered a cap, and whether those who make more than $150,000 would be eligible for an increase. Kean responded that the intent was to give discretion to directors and department heads to address issues of compression at the unit level, rather than distributing funds equally across the board to all employees.

AGENDA ITEM TITLE: UW’s Report to the Joint Appropriations Committee - Seidel

MINUTES OF THE MEETING:

UW President Ed Seidel opened up discussion related to footnote 9 to Section 067 of Chapter 51 (General Government Appropriations) enabled by action during the 2022 Budget Session of the Wyoming Legislature which states:

Not later than June 1, 2022, the University of Wyoming shall report to the joint appropriations committee and the joint education interim committee on the general education requirements or other requirements for students seeking non-liberal arts degrees to take university studies courses or other general education courses outside of the students' majors. This report shall include all regulation and policy incentives and disincentives to students used by the university to take extra-major courses, including any impact on student registration and the effects these requirements, policies and other university actions have on student choice and the cost of education to students. This footnote is effective immediately.

President Seidel stated that in response to this request, the University of Wyoming has prepared a report that describes the requirements for a general studies program from its regional accreditor the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) and related professional accreditation bodies, details of the current USP 2015 program, and plans for the ongoing USP revision designated the “Next Gen” program.

President Seidel reported the University of Wyoming has been invited to attend the June 2, 2022, Joint Appropriations Committee (JAC) meeting to provide testimony on the following: Re-Organization Plan and School of Computing Update; Update, Implementation and Funding Status of WIP Program; Science Initiative Status and Programmatic Needs; and Tier I Engineering History and Status. President Seidel stated that he and Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs Kevin Carman will attend JAC on June 2, 2022, along with Special Assistant to the President and Professor of Mathematics Bryan Shader, Associate Vice President of Economic Development Steve Farkas, Senior Lecturer Mark Lyford, Professor of Botany and Science Initiative Building Executive Operations Director Greg Brown, College of Engineering and Applied Sciences Dean Cameron Wright, Vice President for Campus Operations Bill Mai, and Deputy Vice President for Budget and Finance Alex Kean. The report to the Board on this topic can be found in the May 2022 Board Report and by clicking the following link: http://www.uwyo.edu/trustees/_files/docs/2022-board-meetings/2022-may-supplemental/public-session-report-and-supplemental-materials-may-11-13-2022-uw-board-of-trustees-meeting.pdf

In response to the note of an inconsistency to the names of departments in the materials provided to the Board, Carman stated that the academic units were given a deadline of June 30, 2022, to provide new department names. Trustee John McKinley recommended administration be consistent in its use of college names during its testimony to JAC. Carman went on to discuss the information in the report related to the university reorganization, next steps, examples of how restructuring will impact student success and institutional excellence and broaden the university’s ability to teach in areas of importance to Wyoming. Trustee Brad Bonner noted that the legislature might benefit from a better articulation of what the Wyoming Innovation Partnership (WIP) intends to deliver. In response, President Seidel stated that he will be able to provide the legislature specific examples. Trustee McKinley encouraged the president to have the ability to articulate responses to the gamut of likely questions from the legislature.

Shader provided the Board information in the report related to the School of Computing (SOC), stating that SOC Director Gabrielle Allen will be out of the country on June 2, 2022, and that he will provide a progress report on her behalf. Shader stated the school’s mission is to provide all students an education in computing and data science. Shader said the school will prepare a workforce that is digitally savvy, and provide students the ability to work for a variety of stakeholders. Shader described the ability to support research endeavors that have an importance to the State of Wyoming, and discussed the recent hire of graduate students, and pending staff appointments, further stating the next year will be focused on designing curriculum with an eye toward a masters and PhD program in five years. Trustee McKinley stated the timeline by which the school will begin to enroll students will be of interest to the legislature. In response to request for detail, Shader reported that there will be some special programming available to students in AY22-23, as well as offering an existing interdisciplinary minor. Shader stated the goal is to offer a BA in AY23-24. Shader further described that in AY22-23, more comprehensive training opportunities will be made available to students through improved coordination across units. In response to comment from Trustee Jeff Marsh, Shader stated WIP endeavors to support a research scientist and graduate student collaboration with the NCAR Supercomputing Center.

Brown and Lyford provided a progress report on the Science Initiative. Brown reported conversion of ownership will take place on June 1, 2022, and provided information regarding building occupancy and the move in schedule. Brown stated that in the Science Initiative Building, the university and the State of Wyoming has a world-class facility for science education. Brown went on to discuss Plenty as a world leader in an emerging industry of controlled environmental agriculture, stating the university has a unique opportunity to develop the undergraduate and graduate workforce in support of this growing industry. Lyford discussed opportunity for K-12 and community based engagements. Trustee McKinley discussed the $2-3m shortfall in terms of state funding of a full programmatic launch of the Science Initiative, and recommended administration provide pertinent information to the legislature.

Wright discussed the synergy between Tier I Engineering and the Science Initiative, and provided the Board a review of the formation and timeline of the Tier I Engineering Initiative. Wright discussed the goals achieved thus far, in spite of the scale back of original legislative funding.
Wright stated that if the original funding amount was reinstated, it could be put toward the number of faculty lines and graduate assistantships, which would escalate the university’s ability to attract important research projects funded by agencies such as the National Science Foundation and the Department of Energy.

Farkas discussed the current status of the WIP stating the first tranche of funding came in November 2021 for agreed upon categories of use: digital infrastructure and technology, entrepreneurship, and tourism and hospitality. Farkas stated the organization of a WIP Summit to regroup and target early indicators for phase two investments. Wyoming Community College Commission Executive Director Sandy Caldwell provided update on the collaboration with the community colleges, and Governor Mark Gordon’s support of WIP.

Carman discussed the university’s response to legislative footnote 9 added to Section 067 of Chapter 51 (General Government Appropriations), stating the report highlighted requirements of the University Studies Program (USP), and the university’s accreditation through the Higher Learning Commission (HLC). Carman specifically stated UW students are not required to take classes in gender studies. Trustee McKinley requested a final version of the footnote 9 response and other materials to be presented to the legislature be provided to Trustees and uploaded to the Trustees secure site on or before May 30, 2022. President Seidel thanked everyone on the team for pulling the information together so quickly.
