EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:
This is a structured dialogue about inclusivity and the experiences of UW students. Our conversation will connect these experiences and take a deeper dive to discuss why there were members of the campus community expressing disappointment and concerns about the letter from leadership addressing the zoom bombing at the February 2021 Black History month virtual event.

WHY THIS ITEM IS BEFORE THE COMMITTEE:
Summer 2020 Black Lives Matter protests resurgence, racist zoom bombing at the 2021 Black History Month event, experiences of Asian Americans who are members of the UW community with racism, and other experiences that contradict the values UW holds for inclusive excellence, make it essential that Trustees stay informed and connected with these issues.

ACTION REQUIRED AT THIS COMMITTEE MEETING:
We are seeking the Board of Trustees’ support for the short-term and long-term plans to advance inclusive excellence at UW, the campus community, and throughout Wyoming.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:
The effect of the pandemic has begun to emerge in the scientific and professional literature, and the number of studies showing the disproportionate impact on some faculty is growing—especially those affected by the unexpected increase in the demand for caregiving (faculty with increased child-care responsibilities, single parent households, eldercare, etc.). Academic Affairs has asked faculty to participate in the COVID-19 Impacts to Faculty Career Progress Think Tank and work on identifying and addressing the specific, time-sensitive support needs of our faculty who are facing increased, COVID-related challenges.
