

Berit Bangoura

DVM (Germany), PhD (Dr. med. vet. habil.), EBVS® European Veterinary Specialist in Parasitology
Assistant Professor, University of Wyoming, Department of Veterinary Sciences
1174 Snowy Range Rd, Laramie, WY 82072, USA

Professional career

- Since May 2017 Assistant Professor for Veterinary Parasitology at the Department of Veterinary Sciences, University of Wyoming
- Feb. 2010 – April 2017 Head of the laboratory of molecular biology and genetic engineering biosafety level S2 and Head of the working groups for “Toxoplasma” and “Eimeria” projects, Institute for Parasitology, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Leipzig University, Germany
- Jan. 2008 – April 2017 Research assistant (full-time) at the Institute of Parasitology, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Leipzig University, Germany
- Sep. 2003 – Dec. 2007 Research assistant (part-time) at the Institute of Parasitology, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Leipzig University, Germany

Education and professional qualifications

- Dec. 2016 Completion of course “Didactics in a university setting” (Germany)
- Sep. 2015 Habilitation, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Leipzig University. Topic of the habilitation thesis: “Toxoplasmosis and eimeriosis-associated enteritis – practically relevant and comparative aspects and of different coccidiosis in poultry”; Supervisor: Prof. Dr. A. Dauschies
- Since Jan. 2014 EBVS® European Veterinary Specialist in Parasitology - Diplomate of the European Veterinary Parasitology College®
- Since May 2009 Specialist in Veterinary Parasitology (Germany)
- Mar. 2008 PhD (Dr. med. vet.; magna cum laude), Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Leipzig University. Topic of the dissertation thesis: “Studies on the characterization and metaphylactic control of Eimeria zuernii – coccidiosis in calves”; Supervisor: Prof. Dr. A. Dauschies
- Mar. 2003 Veterinary Approbation (DVM, Germany)
- Oct. 1997 – Feb. 2003 Veterinary medical studies at Leipzig University, Leipzig, Germany, completed with State Examination

Current functions (since May 2017)

- 75% teaching and WSVL diagnostic service, 20% research, 5% academic service
- UW committee functions: -member of the Departmental Graduate Student Committee
-member of the WSVL Media Committee
-member of the Calendar Committee of the University of Wyoming (2018-2019)
-chair of the graduate student committees of Morgane Vandendoren and Sara Griffith (parasitology MSc students)
-member of the graduate committee of Nicole Carter (MSc student, since 2018) and Amy Rhoad (PhD student, since 2019)

Nominations and Awards

Jan. 2020	Advancement award of the German Academy for Animal Health 2020
May 2018	Faculty Grant-in-Aid Program award by the University of Wyoming
Mar. 2016	Invitation to the GAFOS meeting organized by Alexander von Humboldt-Foundation and NAS. Award of the Kavli fellowship of the U. S. National Academy of Sciences.

Review activities

- Section Editor of *Parasitology Research, published by Springer Nature, since January 2018
- Advisory member of the editorial board of *Agraarteadus, Journal of Agricultural Science, published by the Estonian Academic Agricultural Society, Tartu, Estonia, since 2016
- Ad hoc reviewer (selected journals)

Environmental Science & Technology	Parasitology Research
Journal of Veterinary Medicine and Animal Health	The Veterinary Journal
Molecules	The Veterinary Quarterly
Pakistan Veterinary Journal	Vaccine
Parasite	Veterinary Parasitology
Parasitology International	Water Research

Membership in professional organisations

- American Association of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians (AAVLD)
- European Veterinary Parasitology College (EVPC)
- German Veterinary Society e. V. (DVG), section Parasitology and Parasitic Diseases
- German Research Platform for Zoonoses