

Figure 2-38. Linearized plot of standard data from an RIA. Content of hormone in a sample can be estimated from the X axis using the percent bound value (eg., 50%) of that unknown. Calculations from a regression line are generally made with the aid of a computer. Ab, antibody. H, standard hormone. H*, radioactive hormone.