

Figure 2-9. Secretory granules (arrows) can be seen within the cytoplasm of a gonadotrope by transmission electron microscopy.