

Figure 5-1. A "boxing" match between male and female hares is thought to be part of their mating ritual. Initially, the female rebuffs the sexual advances of a male. Similar bouts probably occur between males attempting to establish dominance.